The truth that most of us are happy, busily happy, must now be recognized in this time of modern schools. Like school? Yes, we do. This Caldron will show you why we like Central High.

A Busy Year? Central Does Things!

WE LIKE to go to school, first of all, to take part in the events of a busy school year. Every week brings its surprises and challenges in dances, plays, elections, concerts and programs. Remember "Starlight Fantasy"? "Tiger House"? the Senior Banquet? Remember how the teachers were kids again at the tournament pep session? Remember the seniors trying hard to appear nonchalant in caps and gowns? Now we show you pictures of many events in the school year.

OPPOSITE PAGE: Jack Hamlet, Dave Fox and Jerry Gaw are barking for the nickelodeon, the best buy on the midway, as advertised by Russell Harker and Henry Price at the Sophomore Carnival, February 13. Helen Olson and Harold Cunningham are two satisfied customers.

Best of luck

'Starlight Fantasy'

"STARLIGHT FANTASY" was the theme of the Junior Prom held May 10, 1952. The beautiful queen was Lois Scheimann and her attendants were Cara Paul, Eileen Carpenter, Lois Gregory, Ellen Reinking, Janice Mares, Virginia Gater, Shirley Repine, and Carolyn Long. The queen was crowned by Janet Prine, runner-up to last year's Prom Queen. The crown-bearer, Sara Ann McFadden, carried the beautiful crown. Lois' escort was Jack Gumbert. Bob Carroll and his orchestra provided the music for dancing. The seniors were guests.

All Departments Unite

"TOGETHER WE BUILD" was the theme of the Achievement Show held in the cafeteria, from May 12 to May 16, 1952. The theme "Together We Build" was chosen because of all the meaning in it. It means to have a successful high school. All departments must join to unite and build a better school. The emphasis of the show was on the work and spirit of Central. Projects were displayed by the various departments, to show the progress of the students in that department. The Latin department under the direction of Miss Vera Marie Baumgartner, had a display representing the early Romans. Some of the things on display were a slate with a stylus, a Roman lamp, a man who was trying to fly, scrolls, dolls representing Latin stories, and models of Roman artillery. Miss Rosza Tonkel directed the English department display of letters, book reviews, and poems written by students of the English department. Charts showing the levels of English usage and a chart on Ivanhoe, showing the contrast of life in the 12th and 20th centuries, were also displayed. The physical education department, under the direction of Mr. Herb Banet, displayed pictures of games played, trophies won, and jackets earned by the boys on the teams. The mathematics department, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Ridgway, displayed individual projects of the pupils from the geometry and algebra classes. The health classes of Mr. Victor Stech, displayed an exhibit containing a human skeleton, manikin, iron lung, X-ray machine, and a model showing the operation of a filtration plant. The art department, with Miss Loretta Acker and Miss Blanche Hutto, displayed various projects of the art students, pertaining to work covered in the course of study. The speech department, under the direction of Mr. James McFadden, displayed radio scripts, speeches and speech trophies. Mr. Marvin Todd was chairman of the displays. Music for the program was provided by Central's orchestra and band.

Christmas Brings Cheer

THE SPIRIT of Christmas was evident throughout the halls of Central during the last Christmas season. The Art Club put up the traditional hall decorations. Poinsettias and bells were used in the scheme. The conventional large Christmas tree was placed in the center hall. The center arches were also decorated. The Art Club also had decorations at the Christ Child Festival. The Choir, under the direction of Miss Verda Mae Zeigler, sang at the Festival. The Student Council sponsored Christmas baskets. These baskets were filled by various home rooms and distributed to needy families by the Christmas Bureau. The baskets were given to 24 families. "The Christmas Carol" was the play presented by the Student Players Club. The lead of Scrooge was played by George Bogan. Mrs. Helen Lee directed the play. Christmas parties were held by the clubs to celebrate the Christmas season. The P-TA held a Christmas program in the cafeteria. The program was presented by speech students.

Cheaper by the Dozen

was a three-act play presented by the Senior Class of '52. The play was presented on the Central stage April 18 and 19 for three performances. "Cheaper By the Dozen" is the real story of Frank Gilbreth and his family and has been made into a motion picture. The play was written by Frank and Ernestine Gilbreth and takes place during the early '20's when make-up and silk stockings were considered very daring. One of the highlights of the play was the lining-up system of the dozen. Mr. Gilbreth, portrayed by Andy Rasbury, is an efficiency expert. Instead of merely calling his children, he blows a whistle and pulls out his stop watch while the family lines up in stair-step formation. Mrs. Gilbreth, an affectionate, warm-hearted person, who keeps the family peace, was played by Loretta Moser. Sam Dailey was the only junior in the cast. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Helen Lee, dramatics director.

Pep Sessions Show

THE PEP SESSIONS held this year showed the real Spirit of Central. All pupils looked forward to the pep sessions with great enthusiasm and were disappointed when the sessions ended. Sponsored by several different clubs, the band, and cheerleaders, the pep sessions were usually held right after home room and lasted for about an hour. The pep sessions were held before the "big" football or basketball games, and before the games that Central played in the tournaments. Their purpose was to boost the students' spirits for the evenings' games. At the first pep session, which was sponsored by the band and cheerleaders, the main formations and rules of a football game were demonstrated by the football players and explained by Coach Herb Banet. This was done so that the pupils would understand the game of football better. At other pep sessions sponsored by the band and cheerleaders, the cheerleaders lead the student body in yelling cheers and the band played several songs. Several new cheers and songs were introduced this year at the pep sessions. The Booster Club gave their two annual pep sessions this year, one honoring the basketball team, and the other honoring the football squad. The pep session for the football team was entitled "Giddy Ghosts." and the one honoring the basketball team was entitled "United Notions." Both the varsity and reserve teams were honored at the second one. Candy was given to the teams and coaches. Junior and senior girls took part in the skits held at each of these. Pep sessions were held because of the tournaments. At the one for the regionals, the cheerleaders from four other schools in the city came to give us good luck charms. The speech department held the sectional pep session. The idea for this was taken from the "Little Abner" comic strip. The Art Club also held one. The theme of their session was "Circus." Each Art Club member represented a different performer of the circus.

Cast Your Vote Correctly

CENTRAL was no exception in this year's presidential race. Central held its own mock election on election day. A student was at the head of each party. Dean Heingartner was chairman of the Republican Party, and Carlene Miller was the chairman of the Democratic Party. They were assisted by Nancy Neff and Lester Hemphill, respectively. The home rooms were divided into precincts and each precinct had its own clerks, inspectors, judges, sheriffs, and poll holders. Two students were precinct committeemen, one for each party. The school was divided into ten precincts and each precinct voted at an assigned booth. Voting was done by ballot. The students were shown how to vote at an assembly and at the polls. The assembly was sponsored by the Anthony Wayne Club. Nearly 1200 students turned out at the polls to cast a vote for their candidates. President Eisenhower won by a large margin.

Graduation Day, Saddest

THE CLASS of 1952 brought four years of splendid work to an end with Recognition Day, Baccalaureate services, and Graduation Day. There were 235 graduating seniors. The graduates wore their caps and gowns for the first official time at the Recognition Day program. Baccalaureate services were held June 1, 1952. The sermon was given by the Rev. George Woods, on the topic, "Your Life and Your Faith." The graduation exercises were June 5, in the North Side High auditorium. The guest speaker was Mr. Phillip Maxwell of the Chicago Tribune. After Mr. Maxwell concluded his speech, the seniors received their diplomas from Mr. J. Wilbur Haley, principal. They were led by Francis Kantner and Juanita Roembke, valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively. President Andy Rasbury gave the benediction after the diplomas were received. This fine example of school spirit that the Class of 1952 set will be carried out through the years to follow.

Go You Tigers! Fun, Thrills, Cheers!

THE MORE we get together at ball games, the more fun, thrills, cheers—and the higher the morale for our life and work at Central. We like to go to school for the games, and rightly so. We like the fun of the crowds, meeting new friends, and joining old ones. We like the thrills in expert playing, on floor and field. We like the cheers for good sports and fine sportsmanship. So we say, with real meaning, “Go, you Tigers!”

Never Say Die Tigers

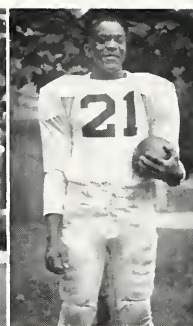

THE NEVER say die Tigers. . . maybe they weren't state champs or even city champs, but still they were the Tigers of Central. Even with a season that didn't look so good on paper, they still were a threat to every team which faced them. This season left many thrills, chills and memories, some perhaps stood out more than others, but still it was Fightin' Central, a team that never says die. The coaches just couldn't get the football out of the boys. As for standouts . . . well, there may have been favorites, but how can any of us forget the final game of the season with C. C., the one that meant the city series championship? A last second decision if there ever was one. But . . . that's CENTRAL.

Spirits High, Win or Lose

THE SNAPPY weather of fall football season is here with all the anxiety of the game. Taffy apples, cokes, hot dogs, candy, and cider make their debut with the fans. Blankets as well as heavy coats, scarfs and mittens appear. The typical songs such as, "We Want a Touch-down" are heard loud and strong. The larger majority of the crowd can be seen walking up town chanting cheers and songs. Even though the fans are happy or sad the Central Spirit can still be felt.

Don't Count Central Out

BASKETBALL . . . Central's pride and joy. With a mild and not too convincing football season by the wayside, the Fightin' Tigers took to the hardwood where they found laurels galore. It took time, though . . . sure, plenty of time, but once the team got rolling it took extreme effort to stop them. Perhaps you remember the way Central just couldn't click together in some games and then in others they looked as though they were really birds of a feather. The City Series? Well, it slipped through the mighty Tiger grasp again, strangely enough in the same manner as last year. But then, Central just couldn't be counted out when that "third" crucial meeting rolled around another time. Central did the amazing and beat a widely favored city champ for the Sectional title. Then to the Tigers and their followers it was "On to State!" They made a good bid by taking the Regional too, but when it came to the "Supers" a few last second breaks turned a championship into a mere dream of the future. Still, though, Fort Wayne boasted its first Regional winner since 1947. Central can readily be proud of its team, even though another reigns as the champ, for they are the best in this area. They boast the feat of being the last Sectional winner in the past surroundings of North Side gym and the first to accomplish the feat in the new Memorial Coliseum. They also boast a new city scoring champ in Jack Gumbert. But, this is just another season. The Tigers' 21 to 6 record taught many a good lesson DON'T COUNT CENTRAL OUT!

CENTRAL'S fast moving trackmen successfully completed their 1952 campaign on May 22 by copping eight victories of nine regular season meets. Their victories were over Concordia, Decatur, Central Catholic, and Bluffton. The Tiger cindermen also captured the Muncie Relays and Kokomo Relays. Central's only defeat in 1952, and first downfall in the past five track seasons, came from powerful South Side. In tournament competition the Bengals placed third in the sectional, and in the regional. George Simmons, '52, placed first in high hurdles, he also represented the Tigers at Muncie for the State Meet. Prospects were good for the 1953 season. Coach Lester Williams directs the tracksters in their activity. This year the practice field, south of Central, was improved for gym and track work.

AND THEN . . . We musn't forget the coaches. These men are the mainstays, the background for the boys of Central. Herb, Pete, Snitz, Warren, and Paul help to guide the boys into fundamental athletics both in gym classes and competition against other schools. Without these men Central wouldn't be Central, for Central possibly wouldn't carry the label of the "Fighting Tigers" to the fullest extent. Herb played "pro" football. Eviston was a "pro" wrestler and Bienz one of the nation's leading tracksters, while all were competitive in some nature of the sporting world. We're all proud of these men, for they mean a part of the tradition of Central.

These teachers and others cooperate to boost and make possible the thrilling ball games of the year.

Work Behind the Scenes

MANY PEOPLE are not aware of the duties and responsibilities of the athletic director in the scheme of things at Central. Under the authority of the principal, the athletic director schedules all games in all sports, making written contracts for all games. Mr. Schlecht also contracts the officials for home games and organizes faculty help—ticket takers, ticket sellers, scorekeepers, timekeepers, and other necessary helpers. He is responsible for the sale of football and basketball season tickets, basketball reserved seats, student 35c tickets, tournament tickets, and he handles all bills and expenditures. He arranges for the use of gymnasiums and athletic fields. The athletic director and his helpers devote many hours to make a successful interscholastic program.

THE MAIN purpose of the GAA Club is to promote better school sportmanship, to give girls a better opportunity to play intramurals, and also to create friendliness among members. Their special social highlights this year were a banquet, a wiener bake, a pep session, and a Christmas party. The club was organized in 1925, and at the present time they have 45 members. They meet the third Wednesday of each month. Their first BESIDES TUMBLING, tap, volleyball, and speedball, the girls may go out for square dancing, swimming, softball, and basketball. To be eligible for GAA you must go out six nights for one sport and earn 100 points and be approved by the advisers. The girls may go out for one or all the sports. The most popular sports are basketball and volleyball.

Alert in Class, We're Glad to Learn

WE LIKE work in the classroom when we prepare our lessons, recite our share, and ask questions about the unknown. We find "fun" in the classroom experience when we each contribute something to the life of the class. Each of us has his chance to recite in history, to demonstrate an algebraic theorem, to replace connecting rods. When we accept such a challenge and do the job well, we gain pride in achievement—the greatest "fun" in school life.

English

THE TERM "English" is broad and confusing because it includes so many phases of instruction. English really means grammar, composition, oral expression, forms of social usage, and other lessons in how to convey one person's thoughts to another person. In English you learn not only what to write but also what to write about. You learn the fundamentals of writing social and business letters of all kinds, accounts of our experiences, essays, stories and paragraphs of many types. We learn better how to spell, punctuate and distinguish the parts of speech. In other words, we find that the mechanics of English are really needed if we are to tell others effectively what we think, feel, and do. English includes literature, reading, remedial reading, and appreciation for thoughts of others brought to us by the printed page. In literature we shape our philosophies and are inspired to plan better lives. In Silas Marner, for example, we find not only a fascinating story, but also a life lesson to guide our thinking in years to come. In "The Ancient Mariner" we gain both philosophy and appreciation of the beauty of nature. We also find that what Shakespeare had to say about life was true both then and now. At times we find ourselves worried about themes and pressured about book reports, but we also realize that every gain is worth an effort. When it's all said and done, we can honestly say, "We like English."

Health, Safety

THE PURPOSE of health education is to instruct youth so that they may conserve and improve their own health, and to establish in them the habits and principles of living which will assure abundant vigor and vitality needed to provide the basis for the greatest possible happiness and service in personal, family and community life. The health education program for youth should also influence parents and other adults for the promotion of the social aspects of good health in the family. This in turn will improve the individual and community life to insure healthier and better generations in the future. A newer course is driving, in which we find most practicable lessons for future conduct as well as applied good citizenship. Health, safety, and driving hold their place in the modern curriculum. Here is training for life.

Gym Classes

THE STATE Department of Public Instruction has prescribed that every high school boy have at least two years of physical education. Central requires three. The fundamental factors of physical fitness are ability, balance, strength, endurance, power, and flexibility. Each activity dovetails effectively to make its particular contribution toward a well-developed, coordinated, self-disciplined, and self-confident boy. This program is planned to fit the needs of all—the under-developed as well as the average and the well-developed individual. Every boy needs plenty of exercises of the “play” type that meets his interest and “body building exercises” that meet his “needs.” Play constitutes 50 per cent of the program. Each boy is kept busy and is taxed regularly to his maximum performance, so he may gain and hold strength in his heart, lungs, and muscles. Physical education contributes a large part in building the fine human machine that carries the hope of American freedom.

Mathematics

EVERY STUDENT is required to take one year of mathematics. This may be either algebra or general mathematics. A minor consists of one year of algebra and one year of plane geometry or two years of general mathematics. Advanced algebra and solid geometry may be added to the algebra and plane geometry to make a major. College algebra and trigonometry are offered in the senior year. Through math a student gains sound mathematic training for the future in science and other related fields. It also helps him to figure out the ordinary problems of everyday life.

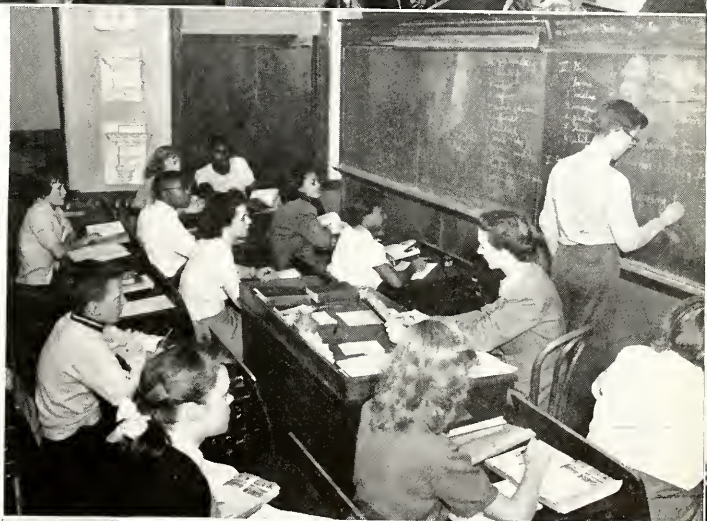

TOP: Larry Lepper is explaining an algebra problem to the class. Others watching him are Jim Bonar, Keith Walda, Larry Lepper, Stan Possell, and Charles Small. MIDDLE: Alice Johnson and Charles Roe explain two algebra problems in division to the class, while Miss Plumanns listens. BOTTOM: Mr. Turpin directs a class in general math.

Languages

ENGLISH, LATIN and French add much to the cultural development of pupils. Everyone at Central, of course, knows how to speak English, but to understand and define English words a sense of Latin and French helps to understand the development of words. These languages not only aid pupils in gaining new words, but also they teach more about the English, Romans and French. French is the only modern foreign language being taught at Central. Everyone is required to take English for three years, but Latin and French are elective, recommended for college preparatory.

Industrial

INDUSTRIAL ARTS is a part of general education which emphasizes manipulative skills and habits used in industry and trades. Central High School areas of Industrial Arts are: Auto mechanics; drafting; electricity; machine shop; welding, and woodworking. These courses give our students the chance to gain knowledge of their future vocations. All these courses are elected by the students. This gives the students an opportunity to take what they want. These skills are learned through the assumption that the mind is a habit-forming mechanism which learns through practicing the same things over and over. They also develop the thinking ability of each pupil. The purpose of vocational education is to provide training, to develop skills, abilities, understandings, attitudes, working habits, and appreciations. Vocational education adds to industrial arts: (1) Specific training for employment in trades, industry, and business; (2) The development of skills to the extent of being able to enter employment with more assurance of advancement.

Home Ec

THE HOME economics department is set up to meet the needs and interests of the individual, boy or girl, in his personal growth and development, his social relationships within and without the home. Our subject matter is changing constantly with the times. It is drawn from and built upon experiences. The pupil is taught constructive home living which entails economic, emotional, spiritual phases as well as physical phases of the home. Cultural and leisure patterns, aspects of parenthood are stressed. Many opportunities are opened to those with home economics training such as teaching, hospital dietitian, tea-room manager, merchandising, food demonstrator, airline kitchen manager, interior decorator, chef, hotel manager, clothes designer, dressmaking proprietor, home service director, and many more.

Art

THE ART department offers a complete four-year course. It specializes in six principal fields, namely, sketching, ceramics, lettering and poster, figure and fashion, painting, and interior decoration. The four-year students major in one of these fields by taking double courses in one particular subject. At the present time, because of current art trends, we are equipped to do much craft work in clay, metal, line printing, wire, plaster, and the like. We feel that our art courses equip the pupils for better living in homes and work situations and for happier satisfying personal life through broadened experience in hobby and cultural activities. Art teaches better living.

SCIENCE education provides basic training for living in an age when advancement in science is rapid. The study of science acquaints one with the physical and biological world of which he is a part. Understandings are gained by means of the scientific method which involves an unprejudiced approach to problems, the accumulation of relevant facts by observation, experimentation or otherwise, and a capacity to form accurate conclusions. The use of this method leads to an appreciation of its value when applied to solving life's problems. The scientific attitudes to be developed include open-mindedness, tolerance, cautious judgment, and a desire to learn. Science education is valuable to future producer scientists by choosing a life work in that area. It is also valuable to those students who choose a life work in another field but who can become consumer scientists by gaining an understanding and appreciation of wise use of the products of science. For all students the objective is a literacy in science for modern living. Science laboratories are often scenes of voluntary over-time work since courses offered provide for varying interests and needs of students. Many elect more science than the one year required for graduation. Desirable two, three, and four year sequences are arranged from the following courses: Biology, Physical Geography, Meteorology, Physical Science, Advanced Biology, Physics, and Chemistry.

Business

THE BUSINESS department is divided into three divisions: stenographic, clerical, and distributive education. At the end of the sophomore year each student is counseled individually as to the branch he wants to take, for which he is best suited. Mr. Windmiller, head of the business department, looks over the choices of each pupil and recommends the course in which he or she is most likely to succeed. At the same time he tells him what the school expects of him in this course. All three of the branches are taught, in order to give the pupils some information about the business world. Whether the pupil wants to continue in this field or not, he will learn what type of work he may be the best suited for. Those who enter the stenographic branch are taught mostly shorthand and typing. This is training for a specific job. The clerical branch deals with general business in the office. They are taught typing, clerical practice, business law, and other subjects pertaining to the office. The distributive education branch teaches behind - the - counter selling. They put special emphasis on meeting and getting along with people. The business department not only trains for business jobs, but also gives business information for general use.

Speech

CENTRAL'S speech department carries on an extensive activity program in the fields of radio, public service speaking, inter-school contests, intramural speaking, assembly programs, and class work. "Hi-School Hi-Lights," "Junior Town Meeting," and "School of the Air" are part of the regular radio schedule. The object of the department is to develop poise, self-confidence, pleasing personality; to develop ability to express one's ideas in a clear, concise, and logical manner; to develop good citizenship through wide experience in parliamentary procedures, student congress, and study of current events; to provide training and practice in voice and general speech habit improvement; to provide training in business speaking techniques; and to form habits of correct and logical thinking.

Social Studies

UNITED STATES history, world history, sociology, government, and economics are the subjects that compose the social studies. These subjects deal with human relationships and world affairs. The purpose of this department is to give us information on our nation's position in world affairs and other nations' positions in these affairs. These subjects also include our relationships with other people and, more involved yet, our relationships with other nations. Through these subjects we become well informed on world affairs and so are enabled to take a place in the nation's work for ourselves.

We Work for Honor, We Join to Serve

WE CLUB members don't have to be club members. We serve our school, through activities, for the same reason you adults voluntarily serve your community, as active citizens. True, we gain honors, have fun, and make friends, but more important, we serve others, of our own choice. Good citizenship does not begin at commencement; it starts now, in directed activity of service to Central.

The next pages show these groups in action.

The purpose of the Anthony Wayne Club is to encourage interest in local history, local government, social problems, to sponsor worth-while school projects, and to give opportunities to members to enjoy social activities together. The club members have enjoyed presenting their idea of democracy in its mock trial, presented before the student body and the members' parents, with the case of Little Turtle against the people of Fort Wayne. There they saw many historical and governmental places and also the Empire State Building. The club also put on a dance last fall, which was the main source of the club's income. Mr. Richards is the adviser of this club.

THE PURPOSE of Student Council is to further student interests in school, to practice the ideals and techniques of democracy, and to encourage cooperation between students and faculty. There are 65 pupils comprising Student Council. It meets twice a month on alternate Mondays. The members are made up of a representative of each home room. Some of their projects this year were basketball ushering, conducting a P-TA meeting, and sponsoring Courtesy Week. Some of the social highlights were a dance, a convention, and a large banquet. THE BAND has grown this year, both in musicianship and in size. They, under the able direction of Mr. Elbert Stodden, won first-place trophies and plaques in the State Marching contest in October, and in the State Band and Orchestra Contest for which Central was host in April. There are three seniors in the band this semester, but even though their loss will be noticed, it is hoped that three or four times as many students will be here next semester to take their places.

More highlights of this club were a Christmas party, "Tournament Twirl," after the Sectional tournament, and the Y-Teen Spring Banquet. These last two are co-projects with other Y-Teen clubs of the city.

THE MATHEMATICS Club of Central was organized in 1913, and Miss Dorothy Ridgway is adviser with Miss Leona Plummanns as co-adviser. The purpose of this club is to develop interest and appreciation for the history of mathematics, its power and its application. Two of their social events were the initiation and a dance. This club every year finances all the expenses for the trips to the state math contests. They also have a picnic each spring at one of the parks to honor members. At the present time the membership is about 60.

THE SECOND three-act production, "Annie Get Your Gun," was given Feb. 16 for the P-TA, the afternoon of Feb. 20 for Central students, and the night of Feb. 21 for the public. The show required an extremely large cast because of the numerous crowd scenes including the shooting matches between Annie Oakley and Frank Butler. Many voices were heard singing the old-time favorites from the original stage show. The opening scene took place in front of the Wilson Hotel. However, as the play progressed the scene was changed to a train, a cattle boat, and finally to a lawn party.

FOR THE first time in the history of Central High School the curtain went up on three-act productions, besides the senior play. The first, "Tiger House," given on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1, took place in Mystery Manor, the home of the heiress Erma Lowrie. A comedy play, "Annie Get Your Gun," had a run of three days, while the Senior play, "Green Valley," was performed on April 24 and 25. Mrs. Helen Lee, director, had a very busy year, for in addition to these three-act plays, two one-act productions were given. "Make Room for Rodney," was seen on Oct. 10 and the "Christmas Carol," on Dec. 18.

MORE WORK goes into the production of a play than the audience realizes. For weeks each crew member has paint brush in hand, remodeling furniture and building sets. Developing sound effects, finding props, planning costumes, and perfecting lighting are only a few of their many responsibilities. The Christmas play required complex lighting and devices to make ghosts and visions appear. Milk pails glow and flowers grow on the stage in "Green Valley." "Tiger House" required lightning, thunder, eyes in a picture to light up, and secret panels in the wall and fireplace to open.

THE SCIENCE Club was organized during the 1952 semester by Mr. Carl Wampole, chemistry teacher. The club's purpose is to create a greater interest in chemistry and physics among Central students. A trip to Indianapolis and a May banquet were the highlights of the organization in its first year of existence. Special recognition and awards were given to outstanding members. The club's membership at the end of the first year was 30. The membership is open only to juniors and seniors taking physics or chemistry. The meetings are on Thursdays.

We Hope You Like Our Caldron. You Do? Thanks!

"WE LIKE to Go to School" is the theme of the 1953 Caldron. The theme was decided on last spring by the major staff and their adviser, Mr. Cleon Fleck. Many people may think plans for the Caldron are made only during the school year, but that is far from the truth. The editor, assistant editor, and the adviser met during the summer and made plans for the book. The dummy was made in late summer and the layouts were completed in September. The first pictures were taken in April of 1952. Some of the improvements this year are individual pictures of the mid-year freshmen, a bigger classroom section, and an index. Buying a Caldron has become an accepted practice.

We Did Our Very Best

Nearly everyone buys a Caldron. Clubs, organizations, and classes co-operate wonderfully in supporting the Caldron, the budget for which exceeds $7,000. All-American since 1938, our yearbook has become the pride of Central and one of its better traditions.

They have two managing editors who alternate on the issues, each one planning her paper two weeks ahead. They have two news editors, feature editor, and sports editor, whose duty is to assign the stories to the writers. The copy and desk editors read the stories before they are printed and write heads on them, respectively. The lay-out editor's job is to make the paper up every Wednesday. The Spotlight has ranked All-American for eight years.

Friends, New Pals, Among the 1600

IF ONLY the halls could talk, they would tell us much about the joys and sorrows of thousands who have entered and left democratic Central. Here we all are just one big happy family, learning together, crying together, and laughing together. Of 1600 pupils, some feel well at home, others are still bewildered. But all know that Central offers both opportunity and friendship. Now, on the next pages, see this student body.

NINE GIRLS and four boys were named to the four-year scholastic honor roll on April 17. This list contained a higher average than any honor roll since 1950. The honors were received by graduating seniors whose grades average 90 per cent or more. Valedictorian John Glass, 95.21, and Salutatorian Carlene Miller, 93.90, received top honors. The average for the 13 was 91.90.

The newly named NHS members were honored at a formal banquet at the YWCA, May 14. Chosen for the upper 15 per cent of the Senior Class, they were judged on leadership, service, character and scholarship. The Best Boy and Best Girl Citizens were voted upon by the school body.

Like Our Teachers? They're Tops!

WE LIKE SCHOOL in large measure because the faculty is ready at all times to serve us. They help us with problems that puzzle our minds, or they help us catch up on work that we have missed. Because of their years of experience and their superior training, they can show us the simplest solutions to our problems. In the classroom, in activities, our teachers do much more for us than what is required of them. Yes, we think they are "tops."

OPPOSITE PAGE: These freshmen bring questions to the Rev. Lawrence Lacour after the freshman general assembly. Getting advice are Max DeVoe, Rex DeVoe, Barbara Sheerer, Margaret Frederick, and Sharon Blain. Mr. Lacour was a guest speaker on life decisions and personal problems.

Our Superintendent is Tops

OUR WELCOME goes to Supt. Aaron T. Lindley in this, his first year in Fort Wayne. He has visited Central on many occasions, and we are always glad to have him come. Mr. Lindley is a pleasant man at teachers' meetings and faculty parties. He is as much at home at the kitchen sink as he is at the speaker's stand. He assumed his work here on August 1, 1952, and he is already a veteran in our school affairs.

TOP: Mr. Lindley is willing to tackle any problem, a stack of dishes being no exception.

RIGHT: In a leisure moment at home, Mr. Lindley relaxes with a Caldron to see what goes on at Central.

LEFT: In his office Mr. Lindley explains a problem to Mr. William C. Gerding and Mr. Willard Shambaugh, members of the Board of Education.

RIGHT: Mr. Lindley checks the week's work with members of his staff: Clarence W. Anderson, chief custodian of buildings and grounds, Mrs. Mary B. Welsh, clerk to the Board of Education, and Mr. W. Arthur Rodemeyer, purchasing agent.

Principal Likes Us, We Like Him

CENTRALITES NOT only like going to school, but they also like their principal, Mr. J. Wilbur Haley. Mr. Haley sets a shining example for school spirit. At the pep sessions Mr. Haley is the liveliest person there and can be seen proudly cheering the team to victory at the games. Mr. Haley is likely to drop in classes unexpectedly, and the pupils enjoy these visits. He is always willing to talk to pupils about their programs or other problems they may have.

Teachers Are Human

ALONG with all their work, the teachers find time for fun. This goes to show that teachers are human. They have their fall supper, spring breakfast, pep session, the coffee and doughnut hour at the end of the school year, and other informal and casual get-togethers, including the home management teas after school. They are always willing to help the pupils in their fun life at Central.

OPPOSITE PAGE—Top: Supt. Abbett and Mr. Dilts, both retiring, are honored at the last teachers' meeting of the year, 1952. They sit under umbrella and table, a gift of the Central faculty. Others on program are Mr. Veatch, Mr. Richardson, Mr. Croninger, former principal. Middle Left: Miss Jackson and Miss Scheumann pour coffee at the fall teachers' supper, Sears Pavilion. Middle Right: Faculty basketball team have fun under Coach Haley at the big pep session. They are Mr. Quance, Mr. Chadwick, Mr. Dornte, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Feistkorn, Coach Haley. Bottom Left: Mr. Dilts arranges a screen for visual education for the last time before retiring. Bottom Right: Mr. Rowe dominates fun at the faculty pep session. THIS PAGE—Top Left: Men teachers talk about the day's affairs at the last meeting of the school year, 1952, a coffee and doughnut hour in the Lewis Room. Top Right: Mr. Stodden tells a funny joke to Mrs. Chester and Mr. Dailey at the same meeting. Middle Left: Miss Scheumann and Miss Ingham serve coffee at the last meeting. Middle Right: the faculty and their families enjoy the fall dinner at the Sears Pavilion. Bottom: Mr. McFadden fries eggs, expertly as usual, at the faculty breakfast, May, 1952.

That GOLDEN chance is coming up on September 26 & 27, 2003. Since last May, your 50th CHS Reunion Committee has been devoting much time and effort to make this "GOLD" the best one yet.

We're combining some of the old with the new. The same D.J. who got us up and dancing at the 40th Reunion will once again "spin the platters" we most want to hear - no guarantee, of course, that we can still shake the booty. But if anybody's up to it, we'll be doing it in a new place, the remodeled Holiday Inn NW, convenient to both I-69 and only minutes from downtown. Since the art of relaxing has become a specialty for many of us, the poolside facilities of the Holidome, adjacent to our private hospitality area (we've rented the Boardroom), make it an ideal location for our 50th Social Hour/Mixer on Friday, Sept. 26. (BYOB/Coolers are welcome in the Boardroom that evening.)

Then, on Saturday, Sept. 27, the Ballroom provides a spacious background for the 3-entree Executive Buffet, which includes Chef-Carved Roasted Sirloin, Char-Broiled Chicken Breast and Baked Whitefish, along with all the tasty accompaniments, as well as a Cash Bar and D.J. "ready to rock come 6 o'clock"!

Please look over the attached Questionnaire, complete the information, and return it to Daisy with your check for the Fri. Mixer and/or Sat. Buffet reservations today. We hope this will be the biggest turnout yet. Without a doubt, the success of each event is often determined by the Committee's ability to contact most, if not all, class members, but we need your help. Please look over the attached list of 75 "missing" names, and let us know if you have any current information. We want to get the word out ASAP.

As usual, we're going to need $$$ to cover mailings, etc., so we will again graciously accept any additional donations you wish to make to the Class of 1953! Also, if you can donate any door prizes for Saturday night's drawings, please contact Eileen (email: awdeence@aol.com, or call 490-9093). We have a huge stuffed Tiger for our raffle, just waiting for some grandkids to love!

We're looking forward to this opportunity to renew many old acquaintances, now increasingly more rare with each gathering of our class. We may not be as playful as we once were, but these "slightly-mature" cubs still know how to "get down" (getting back up is the problem). Remember - advance reservations are required. Don't miss being a part of this very special once-in-a-lifetime 50th - GOLDEN - Reunion!

Sincerely hoping you can catch up with the "pride" on Sept. 26th & 27th,
